9 - 11 JULY 2010

TUTOR: GAIL HARKER

MACHINE STITCHED BOOK

© Gail Harker

Leave the Season's chaos behind and join us for a special pre holiday event.

Create colorful pages and bindings to create a handmade book by machine. There will be a special emphasis on unusual edgings. Use experimental stitches, appliqué, lacing, pop ups and openwork.

Learn to create innovative bindings and attachments by machine. Fill the handmade book with a few pages of machine stitches - any type of machine will work - even if you don't have many stitches.

Skill Level

Anybody, regardless of skill level will feel comfortable in this course and be able to work through the book easily. It is only necessary to know how to thread your machine. Those who are more advanced will be able to develop ideas at their level.

At the Course Conclusion

You will leave this course with a small handmade book and samples of different construction methods to make other styles of books. You will also gain a myriad of ideas to design pages for future books.
